PRESIDENT'S FATHER IS RETURNED TO SOIL

Little Lost Lambs.
Excluding Clergymen.
Bible Best Seller.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)
Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

WALL STREET was nervous yesterday and more little lambs that went to market in the big rush will never come home.

Some worried about "conditions in Florida," and Florida railroad stocks were dropped by owners that will regret their foolishness. Those railroads do not depend on any real estate boom; their only trouble is that they cannot carry the freight and passengers offered.

IN TIME of floods wild animals gather on a high spot, not harming each other. In Wall street agitation, corporations gather on some high spot and say, "let's merge and never separate." There was talk yesterday of steel companies merging and of
"strong competition for the big steel company."

"Strong competition for big steel" sounds easier than it is. Judge Gary and Mr. Farrell are both feeling well.
And write this on your speculative cuffs: The big steel companies could sell at a profit for less than it costs
other companies to manufacture it.

MEXICO'S interior department instructs immigration officials that no foreign clergymen of any religion may enter Mexico.

The idea is not new. Stephen Girard, who gave $5,200,000 to Girard college in Philadelphia, stipulated that
"no ecclesiastic, missionary or minister of any sect whatever is permitted to hold office in this institution or to enter its premises at any time for any reason."

Girard said he wanted young men studying in his college to be "kept true from the confusion of denominational controversies." The surprising thing is that the original Girard fund of $5,200,000 has increased to $32,000,- 000, not including the plant.

HISTORY proves Mexico and Stephen Girard to be mistaken. Those that established the United States had the right idea, to give freedom to all religions—government recognition, or no, to none.

THE BIBLE is the world's best seller by a long way. The number of new Bibles issued last year was 9,- 069,120, two and one-half millions more than were published in the preceding year, and the greater number of Bibles ever issued in one year.
Don't fail to read the Book of Job, and all of Isaiah, at least once a year.

Wales Likes Blue Shirt, Black Tie.
LONDON, Mar. 20.—The Prince of Wales likes a blue shirt with a black tie because it brings out the color of his eyes, according to the "tailor and cutter" organ of the tailoring trade.

Clemenceau Plans To Keep News of His Death Secret

PARIS, March 20.—"Not until I'm buried will the world know I am dead," Georges Clemenceau, France's war premier, told a group of senators during a visit to the senate library today.
Clemenceau said he had made arrangements to have news of his death kept secret.

Today was the first time in many months that the "Tiger" had been seen in political circles.

at a reorganization meeting in the office of Solicitor Hoover yesterday

Simplicity Marks Funer- al Services in Modest Cross-roads Homestead of Green Mountains.

NO EULOGY, NO
MUSIC, NO CHOIR

Grief-stricken Son and Neighbors Follow Coffin
Down Snow-filled
Road to Burial Ground.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., March 20.—
"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh
my help."

In a driving Vermont snowstorm a president buried his father here today—buried him where he had lived out a long and fulsome life—where he had preferred to die.

On a snow-driven hillside
looking out on the towering peaks of the Green Mountain range he had loved, Col. John G. Coolidge was lowered into his grave. Calvin Coolidge had lost his father; Plymouth township had lost its first citizen.

No Display, No Ceremony.

The scene at the family plot of the Plymouth burial grounds was bleak and dreary in the extreme, typical of this relentless mountain country in winter time. A heavy snow, driven by an icy wind, swept blindly into the faces of the little band of mourners, standing knee deep already in that which had fallen earlier in the winter. Muffled against the elements they knew so well, they were returning the old colonel to the soil of his beloved mountains, just as he had requested on his death bed.

Of display and ceremony which might reasonably accrue to the father of a president there was none. Of honest sorrow for one who had gone to a richly deserved reward there was much. The services at the grave were simple, but impressive in their simplicity. The reverence of those who had followed the coffin to the grave approached sublime proportions because of its homely sincerity.

It was not the poignant grief that manifests itself in the physical display of tears. Rather, those sombre-faced, tight-lipped men and women of the hills had showed in their undemonstrative way almost filial devotion for their dead patriarch.

Service at Grave.
Directly before the yawning mouth of the grave stood the president and Mrs. Coolidge and their son, John.
The Rev. Dr. John White, journeyman preacher from Sherburne, whom Col.
Coolidge personally had asked to con-

Judgment for $228 Awarded Jay Clark In Lawyers' Dispute

Judgment of $228.50 in favor of the plaintiff was returned by an arbitration board in municipal court yesterday afternoon in the case of Attorney G. Jay Clark, of this city, against Attorney W. A. O'Grady of Wellsville.

Clark sued O'Grady for a $1,385 settlement on litigations which are alleged to have been handled while they were partners about six years.

The arbitrators were Attorneys Frank
E. Groshans, R. G. Thompson and W.
F. Lones.

10 DIE, 14 HURT IN EXPLOSION OF STACK OF IRON FURNACE

Accident Occurs at Plant in Woodward, Alabama.

$100,000 DAMAGE

Victims are Covered With Red Hot Molten Metal.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 20.—Ten men were killed, five white and five Negroes, and fourteen were injured, ten white and four Negroes, when a stack at Furnace No. 2 of the Woodward iron company exploded at Woodward, 10 miles west of here, today. A number of the injured were critically burned and may die.

Approximately 250 men were in the plant when the blast occurred. All escaped except those in the immediate vicinity of the stack. They were covered with red hot molten metal. Those nearest the stack were instantly killed.
Firemen are endangered.

Five of the dead are white and five negroes.

The white dead are: Howard Mussey, superintendent of the furnace; Bill Rutherford, Horace Lalley, A. B. Martin and Smith Ball.

Ten of the injured are white and four are negroes. They were removed to the Fairfield hospital by ambulances hurriedly summoned from Birmingham, Bessemer and Ensley.

A second explosion occurred in the pumping station while firemen were wetting down the ruins. It was less forceful than the first, although it scattered debris, endangering 50 firemen working nearby. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

The cause of the blast has not been determined, according to officials of the iron company.

One Victim Former Ohioan.

ELYRIA, March 20.—Howard Mussey, superintendent of Furnace No. 2 of the Woodward iron company, 10 miles west of Birmingham, Alabama, and one of the seven men killed in an explosion at the plant there today is a former Elyria boy.

A message was received here this noon addressed to Eugene K. Mussey, the victim's father, informing him of the tragedy. Mr. Mussey is at St.
Petersburg, Fla., having moved from here recently.

Auto Club Officer Will Attend Safety Parley in Capital

E. M. Diehl, secretary of the Columbian County Motor club, will leave tomorrow for Washington, where he will attend a conference on street and highway safety, called by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, and a "motor congress," sponsored by the American Automobile association.

The conference will open Monday and end Wednesday. Accident prevention work and uniform state motor vehicle laws will be considered.

The "motor congress," to which the secretaries of 775 motor clubs, affiliated with the A. A. A., have been invited, will open a three-day session on Thursday in the Willard hotel.

NEW YORK POLICE DEAL BLOW AGAINST ORGANIZED CRIME AS "TIGER KID," PRETTY GIRL, IS HELD

NEW YORK, March 20.—The "Tiger Kid"—blonde, young and attractive, but nervous—is under arrest today and through her arrest the police believe they have dealt a heavy blow against organized crime.

Richard Reese Whitmore, alias John Vaughn, and five other men were arrested yesterday, and the police believed they had merely rounded up another bandit gang. Whitmore was known as a Baltimore highwayman, confessed murderer and jail-breaker.

Then to Whitmore's hotel came a brief note—call me immediately. It is urgent.
The police followed up the note and

FOUND A HOLLYWOOD IN EUROPE

One American girl has achieved her ambition of becoming a film favorite, without her having been in a U. S. studio. Miss Irmila Vackova, daughter of Rudolph Vacek, Chicago, relator, has proven so popular in pictures made in Bohemia that she is receiving offers from German and French producers. Hollywood is expected to claim her soon.

C. Of C. To Honor Memory Of Pioneer Pottery Owner

Tablet for Late James Bennett Will be Placed in One of City's Public Buildings.

A bronze tablet in memory of James Bennett, who established the first pottery in East Liverpool, will be placed in one of the city's public buildings, by the Chamber of Commerce, as the result of a decision reached at a meeting of the board of directors last night.

Bennett operated a one-kiln plant along the river bank here in 1849, using clays which were obtained from the hillside. He was a packer, having learned his trade in England. He came to America in 1838 and first located in Cincinnati. There he learned of the rich clay deposits "west of Pittsburgh" and came here by boat in 1839. The first kiln was fired early in 1840 and consisted chiefly of mugs, which were marketed at down river.

Three Spinsters, Insane, Live Four Years With Corpse

LONDON, Mar. 20.—A barred house in which three insane spinster sisters, named Nixon, had lived for four years with the corpse of their dead mother, was broken into by police today.

The police found the dead woman, wrapped in rags and broken paper, propped up in a chair before a table upon which was spread an elaborate meal. One of the sisters said the meal was for "mother and us."

The three women, whose ages ranged from 30 to 50, screamed and savagely resisted efforts to remove the body for burial.

months' illness.

OUSTED POLICE BUREAU HEAD, IN WELLSVILLE ASKS HEARING

Mayor of Neighboring City Serves Formal
Notice.

CLIMAX OF FIGHT

Fultz's Counsel Urges
Public to Withhold Judgment.

Chief of Police John H.
Fultz, of Wellsville, today was suspended from duty by Mayor
W. L. Fogo.

The action came as a climax to several weeks of open hostilities between the police chief and the executive of the sister city, following the latter's request that Fultz resign his post.

Fultz, who at noon was awaiting charges, said he will fight the case before the civil service commission of Wells-ville, and, if necessary, in the courts.

Fultz Retains Attorney.

The deposed police department head has retained Attorney Ben L. Bennett of East Liverpool to represent him.
Representatives of the civil service commission today said that they had received no official notice of the mayor's action.

Mayor Fogo this afternoon could not be reached by telephone.

Attorney Issues Statement.

Attorney Bennett, in behalf of Futz, issued the following statement:

"I want the public to withhold judgment in this matter, to wait until they have heard our side of the case, and not to form an opinion on the fact that he has been suspended.

"I'm not familiar with composition of the civil service commission before whom the case will be tried, but I feel confident that with an impartial trial Mr. Fultz will be fully vindicated."

The deposed police chief has served for approximately six years under Mayors G. D. Ingram, A. P. Dennis, the late J. S. Barnes and Frank Blackburn.

It could not be learned whether Mayor Fogo had named an acting police head. Members of the police department knew nothing of any such appointment.

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 p. m. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium," 121 West Fifth Street, questions for this week are:

240. What did the unclean animals of Peter's vision represent?
Answer: The Gentiles. See Acts 10:28.

241. Were the Jewish converts "circumcised" because God had visited the Gentiles?
Answer: See Acts 10:45.

242. Were the other Apostles astonished also?
Answer: See Acts 11:13.

243. What is meant by the expression "they of the circumcision"?
Answer: The Jews.

244. Has God been trying to convert the world?

Answer: See Acts 15:14.

246. When a young man takes out from a certain family a girl "for his name," what does the phrase mean?

THE BLESSINGS OF EASTER

Easter Blessings come to all yet all are not fully thankful to Him who made Easter for us.

The message of Easter, the music of Easter, the joys of Easter, were made possible through the Christ of Galilee.

Have you any right to share in the business this season makes to feel the uplift of its music and the joy of its life unless you carefully consider its sources.

'Tis Midnight and on Olive's brow,
The star is dimmed that lately shown;
'Tis midnight in the Garden now,
The Suffering Savior Prays Alone.

P-T. CARNIVAL SCORES SUCCESS

The Parent-Teachers association indoor carnival held last night at parents and teachers of the Central school district, in the Ninth street building, left little to be desired in the way of success.

From early in the evening until late at night, the three floors of the school house were packed and crowded with parents, children and interested visitors.

Booths on every floor, distributing candy, baked goods, needlework and fancywork, aprons, parcel post packages, refreshments, and other things, catered to hundreds.

Entertainment features were held at regular intervals on the second and third floors.

Funds from the carnival will be expended on the purchase of good books to be used by school students as auxiliary reading.

SCHOOL TEACHER TO GIVE ADDRESS

Forrest Moberly, of Wheeling, W. Va., high school instructor, will speak at special services on Saturday night and Sunday in the Church of Christ, Seventeenth and Commerce streets.

The subject for the Saturday night talk will be taken from Matt. 22:42, Sunday morning, "Forgiveness;" Sunday night, "Tokens of the Covenant."

Writer Has Home With Front Yard for First Time In Years

O. O. McIntyre, Who Scratches Veneer Off New York, Gives Miami Beach, Fla., One-over.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Mar. 20. — O. O. McIntyre, who has been scratching the veneer off New York and displaying the town as it really is in striking word pictures, is living in a home with a front yard for the first time in years.

The typical New Yorker has abandoned his latest mode in hats for the bareheaded vogue of this tropical climate; his brightly hued shirts have been sent to the moth balls with his red flannels, if any; white flannels have taken the place of pleated trousers and spats have given way to sport shoes.

He reminds one of the fresh air friend who gambols in similar raiment in the dead of winter around the midtown section of Fifth avenue in little Old New York; Oddity McIntyre has mentioned him many times in his column. But McIntyre is the rule down here and not the exception.

McIntyre, who has made electric lights on Broadway famous, now goes to bed early at night and early each morning he may be found in the open patio of his home clad in pajamas and lightweight robe, pounding away on a portable typewriter, the only sound for many blocks, unless the chirping of birds is noise.

"This is a great place down here," says the man who has traded noise and bustle of New York for the solace of summer's vacation spot in winter. "The moon is glorious—even for a fellow who can take a moon or leave it alone."

Cohan Stage Hit, Song and Dance Man, Is Film at Ceramic

When George M. Cohan wrote and produced that great sentimental comedy, "The Song and Dance Man," his object was merely to present and portray sympathetically a distinctive theatrical type—the typical, small-time vaudeville trouper. However, Paul Schofield, who adapted this stage success to the screen, and Herbert Brenon, who directed it, have broadened the scope of the story considerably.

The film version, coming to the Ceramic theatre Monday and Tuesday, not only mirrors the trials and tribulations of the song and dance man, but faithfully reproduces the whole colorful life of the theatre, even to the actual back-stage operations during a performance.

A more competent and experienced personnel could hardly have been gathered together than that which Brenon has selected. Tom Moore is happily cast in the title role, which Cohan portrayed in the stage version. Bessie Love is the ideal choice for the ambitious little actress who achieves musical comedy stardom on Broadway, and Harrison Ford does the best work of his career in the part of the wealthy artist. Norman Trevor, "Bobby" Watson, William B. Mack and Josephine Drake are some of the popular stage favorites who round out the strong line-up.

Director Brenon, who in his early years was a vaudeville performer, knows the theatre from the inside and has pictured it on the screen in all its picturesque phases—the cheap, honky-tonk theatres as well as the magnificent New York palaces of amusement; the hopeless struggles of the "ham" actors and the success of the glorified stars; the pathetic boarding-house atmosphere and the glamor and bright lights of Broadway.

The story concerns itself with the romance, laughter and sacrifices that make up the life of "Happy" Farrell.

a happy-go-lucky vaudeville trouper, whose lack of ability precludes the possibility of his ever being anything but a small-time actor, but who, in his blind self-confidence, believes himself to be the greatest song and dance man in the world.

200,000 miles and more

Observe the speedometer of any "used" Willys-Knight, should yours be the rare good fortune to find one available. Nine times out of ten, the mileage registered there is easily twice that of any other used car you may meet with.

The reason for this is the absolutely unique service afforded by the patented Knight sleeve-valve engine in which carbon troubles, valve grinding and all wearing and weakening factors common to the poppet-valve type of engine have been permanently done away with.

The engine of a Willys-Knight is everlasting. It never wears out. Unlike any other motor-mechanism in existence it does not deteriorate.

It actually IMPROVES with use. At 100,000 miles and over, a Willys-Knight is a more powerful, more efficient, smoother and quieter car than the day it left the factory. Hence, high mileage totals on "used" Willys-Knights are inevitable. Cases without number are on record in which Willys-Knight engines that have been run over 300,000 miles are in better condition today than when they first were purchased.

Nation Mourns With President

The American people mourn today with the nation's chief as funeral services are held for his father, Colonel John C. Coolidge, who died Thursday night as the presidential train was racing from Washington to the family home in the Vermont hills.

In keeping with the wishes of the Plymouth Notch farmer and one-time country store owner, who loved the mountainous zone in which he spent his life, and where the country's leader was born, simplicity marked the services which preceded burial in the hillside cemetery.

With a minister of his own choice in charge, the impressive services were conducted in the same parlor where, under the light of an oil lamp his own son became president upon receipt of news of the death of Warren G. Harding on that fateful August night of 1923. And the town folk of Plymouth sat with the leader of the nation, all bowed in grief, as the services were held.

As Vice President Dawes, ranking officer of the government in the capital today in the absence of the president, said in a statement of condolence, "Colonel Coolidge died in the knowledge of the honorable success of his only son—a knowledge which is the greatest boon that could come to a father in this life."

The nation suffers a loss in the death of the president's father, for he was a strong Christian character and a man whose personality won the hearts of his countrymen.

Bumming Around The World

The "open road" is romantic, especially if it leads to remote regions. But it is losing its romance and also its respectability, for a lot of American youths. Frank Buck, wild animal trainer and trapper, returning from Asia and Oceania, reports that the ports of the Far East are filled with bums and beachcombers in various stages of disreputableness, and those tolerant realms are growing weary of them.

"In the years I have traveled Asia and the islands of the warm waters," he says, "never have I seen so many roaming and stranded Americans. Lately I have found them everywhere—on the coasts, inland in the cities, even on the borders of the jungles."

"The latest addition to their ranks is the college youth 'working his way around the world to complete his education.' Some of these may have been to college, but apparently 'working their way' is the most remote of their ideas. They are simply begging their way."

"They live mostly a miserable life. The sympathy of American residents of those countries is wearing thin. It is getting harder and harder for the penniless travelers to get money out of their fellow-countrymen. The American association at Singapore has about decided to stop giving them aid."

Better stay at home, young fellows; finish your education in America; see America first, when you can afford it; and don't tackle the world tour until you have the money to bring you around and home again.

The Doctor's Sacrifice

"Uplift" efforts in the realm of health are a fine thing for the public, but rather hard on the physician, in the opinion of Dr. L. L. Bigelow, who aired his views recently in the International Journal of Surgery.

Ever-growing demands on the service of physicians for charity work are unfair to the profession economically, he says. It takes seven to ten years and $10,000 of somebody's money to educate the doctor for his life work. Then his domain is continually encroached on by quacks and fakirs on one hand, and by "untrained professional uplifters" on the other. The latter insist on his giving his services for nothing to people who don't need such help, and who would be better off morally and spiritually without it.

Free service pauperizes them, says Dr. Bigelow, when they ought to be learning to pay for what they get from the medical profession, on a self-respecting basis, as they pay their lawyers or grocers or butchers or landlords.

There is a good deal to this complaint. Every sick person must have medical care; but why make him serve the poor so much at his own expense? Physicians in general are rather badly exploited. It is the exceptional M.D. who is adequately paid for the services he renders. And when he does earn a proper living, he probably has to do it by overcharging conscientious patients to make up for deadbeats who could afford to pay him and don't.

Enforcement In Chicago

Prohibition is functioning better. Here are some facts about Chicago's recent attitude toward liquor, made public by the federal department of justice, and all the more impressive because the Windy City has been thought of generally as very lax in dry enforcement.

In the last 18 months Chicago has sent 30 carloads of criminals to Leavenworth. In the same time it has closed 18 breweries, padlocked 1,500 buildings and convicted 2,000 "illegal purveyors of poison." Padlock orders are now being issued at the rate of 20 a week.

Almanacs and robins have nothing to do with it. When you see kids playing marbles, spring is here.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 20.—Some of Broadway's biggest cafes are now Chinese. Their gaudy serpentine efflorescence where there was once the glacial glitter of such food caravansaries as Churchill's, Rector's and the Palais Royal.

More than 20 chop suey palaces are sprinkled over the White Way from Columbus Circle to Herald Square. Some are owned by a rich syndicate and others moved up from Chinatown when what old timers called the Bow-erization of Broadway set in.

Save for waiters who are Orientals with American haircuts the old Broadway atmosphere remains. Buyers seeking diversion. Ladies of the evening with casual companions. Hired herring-bipped dancers from the Argentine. Ladies who wink and ladies who drink.

Each has its soft darkness and private stalls with a dance floor that stalls out harshly in the garish glare of spotlight. They are pleasant places of noise, confusion and jazz but are minus the natural elegance of the Lohrsteia that has moved eastward to Park and Madison avenue.

The women lack the chic and the men the suave polish of the Broadway of other days, but all the Chinese places are packed nightly and the financial rewards under the new regime are said to be far in excess of what they once were.

A free for all spirit brings the invariable decadence. Captain Churchill stood like a lancer of old in his doorway to salvage the select from among the swarming adventurers of the Broadway night. He knew how to turn undesirable away without offense.

George Rector has cast his fortunes with Florida and is running a cafe on Biscayne Bay. In the old days he stood at the silk roped entrance of old Rector's separating the chaff from the wheat. Old manners, old customs die. First come, first served is the new Broadway fashion and it pays bigger dividends.

Doggy Park Avenue now has its own court gazette. The Park Avenue Association is issuing a social bulletin monthly. It is non-purchasable and is circulated exclusively to all residents between 34th and 96th streets on that thoroughfare. Above or below these deadlines one gathers fold do not count, socially speaking. Park Avenue is going to make a valiant stand against being swallowed up in trade in the manner of its exclusive sister Fifth.

It develops that not all the "We Boys" are dead. The Waldorf long ago drove them from Peacock Alley, but every now and then they bob up with some new sort of sucker bait. In the beginning they posed as "newspaper boys" and launched books on famous folks that were never printed. Big men have paid thousands of dollars for representation with the idea they were adding bonaride New York reporters and receiving a puff besides. The "We Boys" also organized reporters' clubs giving prospective members the idea that membership would save them from embarrassing publicity in the event of a scandal of any sort. The "We Boys" are glib salesmen especially over the telephone. Their last venture was the Allied Newspaper Correspondents' club to which not a single reputable correspondent belonged. For $100 one might receive "all theatrical and other press courtesies." That laugh you may have heard was when the new members showed their cards to stony hearted boxoffice men.

Telephone salesmanship was once the supreme art among the city-tongued gentry who wheedled checks so deftly. Today few men of importance talk over the telephone to strangers. The salesmen must convince a secretary or so before he gets a direct connection with the big man. Copyrighted, 1926, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

American Forest Week.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20.—

The second American Forest Week has been announced for the week of April 18-24. In designating this week President Coolidge in his proclamation recommends to the governors of the various states that they also designate the week as American Forest Week and observe Arbor Day within that week wherever practicable and not in conflict with law or accepted custom, and he urges public officials, public and business organizations, industrial leaders, landowners, editors, educators, clergymen, and all patriotic citizens to unite in the common task of forest conservation and renewal.

American Forest Week is an annual call to all citizens to take part in bringing about better forest conditions. It has met with ready response and Edgar P. Allen, managing director of the committee in charge, says that this year the movement has spread and there is a stronger feeling back of the idea.

There has been more private and public reforestation and the attitude of congress is more generous toward the plan of reforestation since it has seen the results of this work. A national forest policy has been established and this year one of the chief phases of the program will be the development of state conferences and state campaigns. State chairmen have been appointed representing the American Forest Week committee and the state programs will be under their direction.

Those who have studied lumber problems say that it is important that emphasis be placed on the state and local needs. While it is essential that everyone do his part in carrying out the national forest policy, there is also much that people can do in their own community. Twenty states have established state forests comprising about 5,400,000 acres. It is pointed out, however, that while this might indicate that the states have gone into timber growing on a big scale, this is not quite true.

According to the Forest Service, a number of these state forests are the result of gifts or of special purchases which do not indicate a general policy. Considerably more than half of the entire area of state forests is situated in New York and Pennsylvania. Another thing, the mere fact that a state forest has been established does not necessarily mean that timber crops are being grown and harvested. New York prohibits the cutting of timber in her state forests, so that they really become state parks.

Pennsylvania An Example.
At the present time Pennsylvania is the outstanding example of state timber growing. The purchase of forest lands was authorized in 1897 and since that time has steadily gone on. The great bulk of these state forests will be devoted primarily to wood production. There is now pending a state constitutional amendment, which if approved by the people, will provide for a bond issue of $25,000,000 with which to buy approximately 5,000,000 additional acres.

New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, and Ohio are other northeastern states which are consistently building up state forests for timber-growing. So far Texas is the only state in the South which has adopted this policy.

It is also pointed out that town forests are an excellent means of meeting local needs. The saving in freight charges alone is a consideration. There are some 250 cities and townships in the United States which at this time own and maintain municipal forests. Often these are partly used as playgrounds and recreation parks. The production and sale of timber in these areas is an excellent investment. It is said that it is quite usual in Europe for municipalities to own their own forests and often the proceeds from the sale of the wood is sufficient to meet all of the town expenses.

Another unusual feature of this year's American Forest Week is that the Canadian government has also set aside the week of April 18-24 as a period when streets shall be laid upon the problems of forest conservation and renewal. It has designated this period as "Save the Forest Week." It is hoped that it will be possible to link the programs of these two. Canada will no doubt have a program similar to that of the United States, although perhaps more extensive, since there is more money at the disposal of the Canadian committee.

Although this is only the second official American Forest Week, there has been set aside a week in each year for an educational campaign in preserving the forests, since 1920.

Idea Originated in the West.
The idea originated on the Pacific coast in 1920, and in 1922 and 1923 President Harding issued presidential proclamations which brought the federal government behind it. President Coolidge carried on with the idea. Until last year, however, this week was known as "Forest Protection Week," but the breadth of the forest problem led President Coolidge at that time to enlarge the scope of that undertaking and changed its name to American Forest Week.

American Forest Week is not for the advancement of the views of any particular group or organization. This is shown by the wide range of interests cooperating in this work. The government is represented by the Forest Service; the technical interests by the American Forestry association; the women of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; industry by the National Lumber Manufacturers' association; and the nature lovers by the Isaac Walton League and the Friends of the Forest. In addition to these are such organizations

as the American Federation of Labor, the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, the National Catholic Welfare Council, the Playground and Recreation Association of America, and the Boy Scouts.

As was done last year, thousands of pieces of literature will be distributed. Since last year there has been added a much wider range of subjects which are covered by this literature. A catalogue has been prepared and copies will be sent out broadcast. Through the Associated Advertising Clubs it has been arranged to have a speaker at the meeting of every advertising club in the country during that week. The same arrangements have been made with the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

There will be radio talks, and motion picture people are lending their aid by having special features during that week. The National Lumber Manufacturers' association will again be host at a dinner to be given in Chicago.

The gospel of conserving the timber lands of the United States is to be spread to every part of the nation, and through every available channel.

Eve's Two Lovers

EDGAR POE MORRIS

TWENTY SIX.

John Ingate got out of the roadster last and turned to his companions with decision: "Well, I don't know whether—"

At that moment Reggie White swept down on Eve and Clay. "Here you are! I was hoping we would be able to have a game today, and so was Miss Johnstone." The newcomer, having shaken Clay's hand, was holding Eve's familiarly, when Clay turned awkwardly to John Ingate: "Mr. White, Mr. Ingate."

"How do you do, Mr. Ingate?" Reggie White had a way of shaking hands that assumed a lot of things and usually caused strangers to frown, and John Ingate was no exception. "Do you play tennis, to? You must join us. Interesting foursome," Reggie rattled on.

"Why—?" There is no way for the hesitant person to escape the Reggie White type, and John Ingate was caught up unwillingly. He looked appealingly at Eve, hoping she would understand.

She thought he wanted a confirmation of the invitation, and could do nothing, of course, but give it. "Yes, you must come along." She glanced with annoyance at Reggie White, because he had taken so much for granted.

She didn't want to play tennis with White and his companion, and she sensed that John Ingate felt that he was intruding. "Oh, why had she accepted his invitation? Her eyes met Clay's cold glance. Perhaps, after they had started to play, she could plead headache.

"If you can hurry into your tennis things, Miss Johnstone, I can hold a court for the game."

John Ingate spoke up. "With me in there would be five. I think I'd better drop out. Perhaps, some other time—"

"No, no! You come, to . . . I would."

Ham Basch, of Indiana avenue, Chester.

Lawrence Heddleston, of Fourth street, was a Pittsburgh visitor yesterday.

Miss Frances Simmers, of East Fifth street, is a Pittsburgh visitor today.

Miss Alberta Edgell and Mrs. J. Ashby, of Warwood, W. Va., are guests of Mrs. Catherine Bowdler, of Moore street.

Daniel McDonald and Ralph Hall have returned home after attending a Masonic dinner-dance in Alliance Wednesday evening. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foutts.

E. I. Simmers has returned to his home in East Fifth street, after a month's business visit in the east.

Mrs. Albert Watkins, of Ridgeway avenue, who underwent a serious operation in the City hospital this week, is recovering.

Mrs. George Firth, of McKinnon avenue, who has been confined to the City hospital for several weeks, will be removed to her home next week.

The condition of Mrs. Edwin McClure, of West Sixth street, who is seriously ill, is unimproved.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ebert, of Warren, have concluded a visit with Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Ebert, of Lincoln highway.

Jean Ensinger, of St. George street, is recovering from an attack of measles.

Mrs. Isaac Burlingame, who has been ill at her home in Daisy avenue, is improving.

E. S. Donahy is ill at his home in Pennsylvania avenue.

Eugene Godwin is ill at his home in Newell.

Miss Dorothy Wollam is recovering from an operation at the home of her sister, Mrs. Clinton Morley, River street.

have to leave after the first set any way—business engagement, so you play and I'll watch the first set."

Reggie White's manner was disagreeable to John Ingate, but he was not a man to vent his feelings in such circumstances, and acquiesced. The four walked to the porch together. Miss Johnstone stepped forward to meet them, nodding gravely to Mrs. Wales and with the suggestion of a smile to Clay. John Ingate's eyes opened wider at the sight of her. Who in the devil was this?

Reggie White supplied the introduction. "Miss Johnstone, this is Mr. Ingate, a friend of the Waleses."

"How do you do?" She offered her hand, with its silken touch, to the newcomer.

"I'll have to toddle along after a set anyway, you know," Reggie explained to her, "so Mr. Ingate will be the fourth . . . We'll hold a court for them until they get into their coats and come out."

Miss Johnstone was conscious of the intent gaze of John Ingate. She managed to smile at him slightly as she turned away toward the tennis courts with Reggie White.

John and Clay went down to the locker-room together, each feeling self-consciously uncomfortable. They said little to each other as they were dressing. John debated with himself the advisability of finding an eleventh hour excuse to escape from this game. But this Miss Johnstone—

Eve was not in sight when they reappeared on the veranda. "I'll wait for her, if you want to go on down to the court and get warmed up," Clay suggested. "You don't know how women can keep you waiting," he added, with a smile.

"All right," John welcomed this opportunity to get away from Clay, in whose presence he felt nervously uncomfortable. And Clay was glad to get rid of him, for there was something he wanted to say to Eve.

Eve was not as lucky as on the previous day in finding a costume for the courts. The club did not keep much clothing of this sort on hand, since there were naturally few calls for it, and what there was of it was severely plain and ill-fitting. Eve was conscious of the poor figure she made in the dress, and hesitated about facing the others, or even Clay, in it. She did not appear on the veranda, but called Clay to her. "I don't think I'll play," she said. "These clothes are awful."

"I'm willing to drop out to," was Clay's reply.

"I don't think both of us ought to. We can't leave John alone with them . . . Where is he?"

Clay indicated the courts with his racket.

"I guess we'll have to go."

"Not if you don't want to," her husband responded.

"I don't want to, but we can't back out now without a better excuse." She took his arm and led him down over the green to the courts.

John Ingate was looting the hall to Miss Johnstone, with Reggie White on the sidelines, smoking. "A wife should never play tennis with her husband," he called out to the Waleses. "She gets the blame for all of the mistakes," Reggie laughed as if he were having a huge joke.

"But a man shouldn't be so ungallant as to defeat his wife," John Ingate exclaimed. He wanted very much to play with Miss Johnstone, and she, a glance she gave him showed, was quite willing.

"I'd rather play with Clay," Eve spoke up decisively.

Reggie White apparently forgot the business engagement. "That was to take him away after the first set, for he was still present, in the form of a master of ceremonies, loling in ease, when the second set ended, with the honors divided. John Ingate was in no mind to drop out now. Eve didn't see how she could go and leave Clay behind. So all five were there when the three sets were over, with John and Miss Johnstone the winners.

"I'd like for all of you to have lunch with me," John suggested, eagerly. He would much rather have been able to ask Miss Johnstone alone.

"I really must go now," said Reggie White. No one offered objections, and it was a foursome that gathered for late luncheon on the veranda of the club.

Eve could not help seeing how fascinating Miss Johnstone was to John Ingate. She tried to get interested in their conversation, to draw out Clay. In the end she lapsed into silence, with a fierce dislike of the violet-eyed woman rising in her. She was Clay's wife, yes, but still she couldn't stand the sight of John Ingate paying court to another woman.

BOILER BLAST WRECKS, FIRES GAS STATION IN BROOKLYN

Early Reports of 50
Men Missing Prove
Incorrect.

12 ARE HURT
Flywheel is Hurlled
Through Two Upper
Floors and Roof.

NEW YORK, Mar. 20.—Explosion of a boiler wrecked and set fire to a two-story frame building housing a gas jumping station of the Brooklyn Union Gas company in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn early today. Early reports to police headquarters said 50 workmen were missing and were believed to have been killed. This report proved to be incorrect.

Twelve men who were in the building escaped with minor injuries.

Three alarms were turned in and all the available fire apparatus in that section of Brooklyn was rushed to the scene. It was feared that two huge gas tanks adjoining the pumping station might explode as a result of the heat. Firemen prevented this by keeping streams of water playing steadily upon the tanks until the fire in the pumping station had been extinguished.

The explosion caused a panic in the neighborhood. Mothers fled from their homes, carrying their young children. Several women fainted. Police lines were hastily thrown around the scene and all residents of the immediate neighborhood were ordered out of their homes. Police feared an explosion of the big gas tanks.

The boiler explosion hurled a flywheel from the basement of the pumping station clear through the two upper stories and roof. It was found some distance away.

FRANK ORMES IS FINED $50

Justice William Calvin, of Calcutta, is Arrested.

Frank Ormes was fined $50 and costs by Municipal Judge Hanley, this morning, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was arrested on Third street by Captain of Police Conley, last evening, upon complaint of his wife. Police say he carried a .32-caliber Colt revolver.

William Calvin, of Calcutta, who, police say is a St. Clair township justice of the peace, was arrested on St. Clair avenue by Patrolman Roth last evening, charged with intoxication. Calvin denied the charge when arraigned before Judge Hanley this morning, but said he had been feigning drunkenness. He was released on his own recognizance for a hearing this afternoon when the patrolman will appear against him.

James McKinney, Chester street car worker, was fined $1 and costs for driving through a red block in the traffic signal at the corner of Fifth and Market streets yesterday afternoon.

Herbert Lee, charged with non-support by his wife, Doris Lee, was dismissed upon payment of costs in the case and his promise to contribute $4 per week toward the support of his four-year-old daughter.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 20.—After an irregular opening, in which the motor stocks and some of the industrials suffered further declines, the market today rallied under the lead of the oil stocks. As in the previous rally, heavy buying centered around Standard Oil of New Jersey, which sold up to 4 1/4 for a gain of 2 points, while numerous independent oils advanced from 1 to 2 points in active trading in the first hour.

Very little encouragement was offered the bullish interests in the weekly reports of the business agencies. Wholesale business appears to be in better condition than retail.

The first period saw a number of spurts in oil stock prices. Simms Skelly, Sinclair, Pan-American, Marland and Pure Oil gained more than a point in the first hour.

R. W. Buxton, Champ Fiddler, Played Violin for 70 Years

Di strict Title Holder,
Who is 77, Will Appear
at American Theatre
On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Richard W. Buxton, 77, winner of The Review-Tribune's old-time fiddlers' contest, who will appear at the American theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, has been playing the violin for nearly 70 years.

Buxton, winner in a field of approximately 15 from the championship contest, began to fiddle when he was a lad of eight. One of the selections which he played in the finals of the contest, which were conducted last Monday night, was the first composition he mastered.

His first teacher was a man about 65 years of age, who lived on a neighboring farm. Bow strings for his violin were thread, he says.

He was born on a farm in Washington county, Pa., about one mile from the nearest postoffice at Patterson's Mill. The farm, which his father, also a violinist, owned, had been inhabited by Indians.

Formerly lived in West.

At the age of 10 Buxton followed a plow, doing the work of a man. On the farm was produced practically all the foodstuffs. Coffee and sugar were the only commodities purchased in the nearby town of Cross Creek.

Buxton married young and, in 1872 at the age of 23, he started westward with his wife and two children. The family settled in the northern part of Missouri where Buxton herded sheep for six years and then purchased a farm. Farm lands at that time could be acquired for $1.50 per acre. This land today is selling for $300 per acre.

He and his family lived in the west for 35 years. During that time he played for hundreds of old-fashioned dances. He had the distinction of being the only fiddler in the immediate vicinity and often made trips of 20 and 25 miles to play for dances. Here he reared his family of seven children.

Twenty years ago Buxton came to East Liverpool, where he followed the trade of a carpenter until about three years ago when he retired. Four of his children are deceased. The others are: David Buxton, of Cleveland; Robert Buxton, of New York; and Mrs. Margaret Villio, of St. George street. Buxton makes his home with his stepson, Dwight McBride, of Anderson boulevard.

Violin His Companion.

He was married twice. His first wife died while he was living in the west. The second Mrs. Buxton passed away eight months ago. He is a member of the Presbyterian church.

Buxton regards his violin as a companion. The instrument which he now plays was made in Germany about 50 years ago.

Old time music only will be played by the champion fiddler in his engagement at the American theatre. He will give three performances, one at 3:30, another at 7:30, and the last at 9:30 p. m. each day. This will be an added feature to the picture, "His Supreme Moment," in which Blanche Sweet is the star.

Evening shoes of black with the heels decorated with azure blue beads are being worn by society women of Europe.

headquarters in one of New York's glided night clubs, much frequented by fashionable New Yorkers out to see night life.

Although the only murder thus far charged to the gang is that of a prison guard, Robert Holtsman, who was killed by Whittemore when he escaped from jail in Baltimore, the police believe they now have clues to additional murders.

Samuel L. Gilden of Baltimore, who was tried and acquitted of robbery in Baltimore, was shot to death here last December. One of the men last seen with him is in the gang now in custody.

Whittemore has been identified as one of the men shot at by Henry Helwig, a private detective, during a jewel robbery last January. Helwig has since disappeared.

The police are also striving to connect the gang with the murder of Abraham Berney, a jewel broker, found dead in Woodhull, N. Y., this week. Still another murder that the gang may be connected with is that of "Spike" Kenney, a Baltimore gangster, who was mysteriously shot after the trial in Baltimore in which Gilden was acquitted.

"The Tiger Kid," who is said to be in a nervous and excited condition, is being closely questioned and if she "breaks" the police believe they will find the solution to a number of crimes that have mystified the authorities of a dozen states.

Those now in custody besides Whittemore and "The Tiger Kid" are Milton Goldberg of Baltimore; Pasquale Chiccarelli, a waiter in the night club where the gang had its rendezvous; Bernard Mortillaro, a former convict, and Jack and Leon Kramer, safe-breakers.

CLEVELAND, O., March 20.—Police today began a search in Cleveland for an apartment believed to exist here which is the headquarters of additional members of the "Tiger Kid's" bandit gang just rounded up in New York in connection with the arrest of Richard Whittemore, Baltimore fugitive convict.

In the United States today are 52,000 towns.

duct the last services, intoned the comforting words of the Episcopal burial service.

"Unto God's gracious mercy and protection we commit you. The Lord bless you and keep you. The Lord make his face to shine on you and be gracious unto you."

The president stood motionless, mouth drawn and eyes haggard. In their quiet, unemotional way, father and son had held an unusually deep rooted affection for each other.

Mrs. Coolidge, in deep mourning, stood beside her distinguished husband, veil flung back, face tilted as though in silent prayer.

The hole had barely been opened in the soil for the reception of the casket, when fine flaky particles of snow began sifting down. Then as if nature joined in the general mourning, tears of little drops of rain fell. They poured down all night on the last resting place of the Colonel.

After daybreak the force of the storm increased and became a down-pour. The roads, a few days ago

Shock Promised Film World In Taylor Murder Inquiry

Important Evidence in Unsolved California
Killing Brings Los Angeles District Attorney to Boston.

BOSTON, March 20.—After a four-day investigation in this city into the mysterious, unsolved murder of William Desmond Taylor, moving picture director, in Hollywood, Calif., four years ago, District Attorney Asa W. Keyes, of Los Angeles, was on his way west today with information which he said would "shock the motion picture world and the country."

"We have discovered new and highly important evidence that has brought us to Boston and Brookline," said Keyes. "But until we locate and question Edward Sands, Taylor's missing Brookline butler, I can make no further revelations."

"We have directly from New York as the result of what we were told by Mary Miles Minter, who was at Taylor's home a few hours before his murder."

"We are very anxious to see Mabel Normand, who was with Taylor just before he died, but she left New York before we arrived."

The historic Grand Trunk Road, India's most important highway, is being modernized.

Male Chorus of 60 In 'Student Prince,' Coming to Ceramic

Twenty Lovely Ladies Also in Cast of Operetta Which Plays Two-day Engagement Here.

No other operetta approaches "The Student Prince" which comes to the Ceramic theatre for two days beginning Wednesday, March 24, in size of male chorus. It is now the vogue to use mixed choruses, but the Messrs. Shubert, who present "The Student Prince," have set the lead in size and quality with their 60 student voices, which at each performance thrill the audiences and bring encore after encore for each exquisite song number. It must not be understood that there are no female voices in "The Student Prince." There are 20 of the loveliest ladies the New York studios and musical conservatories could produce. These were chosen not only for voice but for beauty and grace. There are singers and there are good looking women of the stage. The difficulty lies in finding them in combination, but this the Messrs. Shubert have accomplished after weeks of casting.

"The Student Prince" was three years in preparation before it was presented to the public in New York. The original company is now in its second season at Ambassador theatre, New York city, where in size of attendance and length of run it is expected to exceed any previous record for a musical attraction. The company which will be seen in this city is in every respect the equal of the New York show. The singing cast numbers one hundred. The scenic investiture is identical with the New York production down to the last piece of property.

Dorothy Donnelly wrote the book and lyrics of "The Student Prince" and Sigmund Romberg the music. These authors are also responsible for the tremendously successful "Blossom Time," but in "The Student Prince" they exceeded all their previous successes. The entire production is under the personal direction of Mr. J. J. Shubert.

COUNTY SCHOOL LEADERS MEET

George E. Marker, Kent Normal, Principal Speaker.

A committee has been appointed by the Schoolmasters' club of this county to confer with one selected by the North Eastern Ohio Officials' association, which indicates that the school officials of the county have given approval to the plan advanced by the association to provide capable officials for all scholastic athletic events. Representatives of the officials' association discussed plans of the organization with the members of the Schoolmasters' club before the latter went into session at their March meeting held in the Hostetter hotel at Lisbon. Committees representing the association and the Schoolmasters' club will meet at an early date and will prepare a schedule of events that will be followed by the association in the selection of presiding officials for all late spring, summer, fall and winter scholastic sports.

George E. Marker of Kent Normal was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Schoolmasters' club. J. C. Russell White of Toronto, a brother of ex-State Senator Charles White and now principal of the Market street school, Lisbon, and also president of the club, spoke on "Bobby Burns." He spoke of the native country of Burns, having visited Scotland last summer and while there made a study of the history of the famed poet. A number of writings of Burns were given by Mr. White, and in Scotch dialect.

The spring meeting of the club will be held at Salem, it was determined at this meeting of the club, at which time a baseball schedule for next season will be outlined.

COLEMAN MINE PLANS TO RESUME

Mining operations will be resumed Monday, if possible, at the mine of the Dunn Coal company, at Coleman, where work has been suspended for over a week on account of a fire within the mine.

A room in which the fire started has been sealed for the purpose of smothering the fire.

The fire was caused, it is said, by a smoldering flame which followed the shooting down of some coal before a group of miners left the mine.

Operations were suspended as soon as the fire was discovered, and then inspectors from the state bureau of mines were ordered to the scene.

PLANS APPROVED FOR ROAD WORK

Plans and specifications for the improvement of the Columbiana-Canfield road have been approved by the state highway department, according to advice received by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk, and this job will be included in the next state letting, which has been scheduled for April 16.

Of this road, of which 800 feet is in Columbiana county and about two miles in Mahoning county, it is planned to award both sections to the same contractor.

VERDICT GIVEN IN CATTLE SUIT

A jury in the case of J. C. McIntosh, of St. Clair township, against John E. and Flora B. Smith, also of St. Clair township, has returned a verdict finding $1262.62 due the plaintiff from the defendants, but on the cross petition and answer of the defendant an offset of $366.66 was allowed. A final verdict for $895.96 in favor of the plaintiff was rendered and made a matter of record.

This case is one that grew out of the sale of cattle on the McIntosh farm to Smith.

Wm. C. Maple, of Kensington, Ohio, announces that, although his property was greatly damaged by fire, he is still in position to direct funerals and may be reached at his residence.

Morgan, has arranged a county community dance for Masons and their families to be held in the Lisbon Masonic temple next Friday evening. A series of these dances will be brought to a close probably in May after which the fraternity proposes to give a number of dances during the summer season at the fair grounds dancing pavilion.

Divorce Suit Filed. Declaring in her petition for divorce that her husband has been guilty of habitual intoxication for more than three years last past, Flora A. Runyon also declared that her husband, Clarence E. Runyon, whom she married March 1, 1920, has neglected to properly provide for her and child.

Zanesville In Semi-Finals Of Title Tourney At Columbus

Grade School Court Title At Stake Today

McKinley, Sixth Street A and Central A Victors in Yesterday's Contests, Advance to Semi-final Round; Finals Tonight.

McKinley 13, Washington 12. Sixth Street A 21, Central B 12. Central A 34, Garfield 14. McKinley, Sixth Street A and Central A were victors in yesterday afternoon's grade school tournament games at the high school gymnasium, triumphing, respectively, over Washington, Central B and Garfield.

The victors, as a result, will go into the semi-finals starting this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Two teams will emerge for the final championship battle tonight at 8:30, following the girls' division final.

As the score indicates McKinley and Washington raced neck and neck to the wire. McKinley won the game from the foul line, chalking up to less than seven points on free throws.

Washington, on the other hand, failed to register at all in this manner although they outscored their foes from the field, finding the hoops six times to McKinley's three. Ashbaugh, Heddlston and Pennybaker were the McKinley mainstays while Green, McCoy and Reese performed well for Washington.

Sixth Street A's stonewall defense was too strong for the lighter Central B boys. The Central scored but twice from scrimmage. Sixth Street led at the half, 10 to 6, and continued to increase their margin in the concluding periods.

McConnell, Blackburn and Buxton were the big guns for the winners, while Pierson, Mullin and McNutt starred for Central.

Garfield was no match for Central A in the third clash of the afternoon's card. Central went into the lead, 10 to 6, at the quarter and boosted their total to 22 in the second quarter, while Garfield was held scoreless.

Although Garfield outscored Central in the third period, their efforts fell far short of tying the count and the final canto saw the Fourth Street lads hitting the basket again.

Carmen and Dearth were Central's big scorers. Dotta, Harris and Caton looked best for Garfield.

McKinley. Washington. Ashbaugh. F. Kind. Heddlston. F. McCoy. Fowler. C. Greene. Reed. C. Reese. Pennebaker. G. Banks. Substitutions—McGraw for Fowler, Miller for Reed, Martin for Kind, Coleman for Martin.

Field goals—Ashbaugh, Heddlston, Pennebaker, McCoy 4, Greene 2. Foul goals—Ashbaugh 3, Miller 3, Heddlston.

Referee, Reid; timer, Lorah; scorer, Larkins.

RISKO DAZES FIGHT COLONY

Comes Close to Scoring Knockout Over Berlenbach.

By George Barry. NEW YORK, March 20.—New York's fight colony still was in a daze this morning, following the stunning defeat of Paul Berlenbach, light heavyweight champion, by Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, in ten sizzling rounds last night at Madison Square Garden. Quoted as low as 1 to 2 in the betting, Risko, famous as a fistie "catcher," took the play away from Berlenbach from the start, won eight of the ten rounds, scored two knockdowns and had the champion on the verge of a knockout on many occasions.

In other words, the catcher became a pitcher overnight and he seemed to have plenty on his fast one. Berlenbach's title was not at stake but his reputation was. He lost caste as a possible challenger for the heavyweight title and his plans to meet either Tunney or Wills this summer received a setback, from which they are not likely to recover at an early date. Tunney and Jack Delaney beat Risko in ten rounds but it must be admitted that they did not lambast the Risko who was on exhibition last night.

The outcome of the bout afforded the second of two great surprises to which New York fans have been treated this season, the other being Tiger Flowers' defeat of Harry Greb.

The fight was a thriller from the first bell. Risko had warned Berlenbach that he was in for a merry evening and he made good his promise in the first round by dropping Paul for a count of four with a left hook. He almost had the champion out but his follow-up was wild.

The crowd pulsated to the thrill of the moment but there was more to come as Berlenbach fell to his knees from a terrific right to the jaw as the bell ended the second round and reeled about, perilously near a knockout, in each of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth rounds.

Paul rallied to earn an even break in the seventh but was well beaten in the eighth and ninth. After being driven back on his heels with a right in the tenth Berlenbach suddenly flashed his famous left, landing heavily to the body and he continued the bombardment to the bell, earning his only round of the fight.

Rookies Face Senators. Sarasota, Fla., March 20.—Two recruit pitchers, Davies and Clarkson, will be started against the Senators today in the first of an 11-game series to be played between the Giants and the American league champions.

Power Five Wins At Salineville

Next Game With Lisbon Roamers Here on Tuesday.

Powers ran up their string of cage success for the current season to 26 last night by defeating Salineville, 21 to 19, on the Salineville court. The locals had a battle on their hands all the way, as the score indicates, their winning points being recorded in the last half, after the Salineville five had led, 12 to 19, at the half.

The Powers will play the Lisbon Roamers next Tuesday night on the M. E. floor here.

HILLTOPS DOWN EAGLES' QUINTET

Junior Cage Tournament Semi-finals Carded Today.

In the Junior basketball tournament games played at the Y yesterday the Hilltops scored a 27 to 15 victory over the Flying Eagles, while the Omars won by forfeit from the Uniques, who failed to make their appearance.

The first half of the Hilltops-Flying Eagles tilt was close, the Eagles leading, 6 to 5. In the final periods the Hilltops got going and they played the Eagles off their feet, the game becoming nothing but a flock of field goals for the Hilltops. The winners performed in a brilliant manner. Dyke, finding the baskets five times from the field and once on a free throw, led in the scoring. Jackson, F. Lincoln and J. Lincoln were the leading performers for the colored lads.

The Sultans will clash with the Buckeyes, and the Omars and the Hilltops will combat in the semi-finals today on the "Y" floor.

Little Lost Lambs.
Excluding Clergymen.
Bible Best Seller.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)
Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

WALL STREET was nervous yesterday and more little lambs that went to market in the big rush will never come home.

Some worried about "conditions in Florida," and Florida railroad stocks were dropped by owners that will regret their foolishness. Those railroad stocks do not depend on any real estate boom; their only trouble is that they cannot carry the freight and passengers offered.

IN TIME of floods wild animals gather on a high spot, not harming each other. In Wall street agitation, corporations gather on some high spot and say, "let's merge and never separate." There was talk yesterday of steel companies merging and of "strong competition for the big steel company."

"Strong competition for big steel" sounds easier than it is. Judge Gary and Mr. Farrell are both feeling well. And write this on your speculative cuff. The big steel companies could well at a profit for less than it costs other companies to manufacture it.

MEXICO'S interior department instructs immigration officials that no foreign clergymen of any religion may enter Mexico.

The idea is not new. Stephen Girard, who gave $5,200,000 to Girard college in Philadelphia, stipulated that "no ecclesiastic, missionary or minister of any sect whatever is permitted to hold office in this institution or to enter its premises at any time for any reason."

Girard said he wanted young men studying in his college to "be kept free from the confusion of denominational controversies." The surprising thing is that the original Girard fund of $5,200,000 has increased to $32,000,000, not including the plant.

HISTORY proves Mexico and Stephen Girard to be mistaken. Those that established the United States had the right idea, to give freedom to all religions—government recognition, or subsidy, to none.

THE BIBLE is the world's best seller by a long way. The number of new Bibles issued last year was 9,069,120, two and one-half millions more than were published in the preceding year, and the greater number of Bibles ever issued in one year. Don't fail to read the Book of Job, and all of Isaiah, at least once a year.

NEW YORK POLICE DEAL BLOW AGAINST ORGANIZED CRIME AS "TIGER KID," PRETTY GIRL, IS HELD

NEW YORK, March 20.—The "Tiger Kid"—blonde, young and attractive, but nervous—is under arrest today and through her arrest the police believe they have dealt a heavy blow against organized crime.

Richard Reese Whittemore, alias John Vaughn, and five other men were arrested yesterday, and the police believed they had merely rounded up another bandit gang. Whittemore was known as a Baltimore highwayman, confessed murderer and jail-breaker.

Then to Whittemore's hotel came a brief note—call me immediately. It is urgent.
The police followed up the note and

Grief-stricken Son and Neighbors Follow Coffin Down Snow-filled Road to Burial Ground.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.
PLYMOUTH, Vt., March 20.—"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help."

In a driving Vermont snowstorm a president buried his father here today—buried him where he had lived out a long and fulsome life—where he had preferred to die.

On a snow-driven hillside looking out on the towering peaks of the Green Mountain range he had loved, Col. John G. Coolidge was lowered into his grave. Calvin Coolidge had lost his father; Plymouth township had lost its first citizen.

No Display, No Ceremony.

The scene at the family plot of the Plymouth burial grounds was bleak and dreary in the extreme, typical of this relentless mountain country in winter time. A heavy snow, driven by an icy wind, swept blindly into the faces of the little band of mourners, standing knee deep already in that which had fallen earlier in the winter. Muffled against the elements they knew so well, they were returning the old colonel to the soil of his beloved mountains, just as he had requested on his death bed.

Of display and ceremony which might reasonably accrue to the father of a president there was none. Of honest sorrow for one who had gone to a richly deserved reward there was much. The services at the grave were simple, but impressive in their simplicity. The reverence of those who had followed the coffin to the grave approached sublime proportions because of its homely simplicity.

It was not the poignant grief that manifests itself in the physical display of tears. Rather, those sombre-faced, tight-lipped men and women of the hills had showed in their unmonstrative way almost filial devotion for their dead patriarch.

Service at Grave.
Directly before the yawning mouth of the grave stood the president and Mrs. Coolidge and their son, John. The Rev. Dr. John White, journeyman preacher from Sherburne, whom Col. Coolidge personally had asked to con-

Judgment for $228 Awarded Jay Clark In Lawyers' Dispute

Judgment of $228.50 in favor of the plaintiff was returned by an arbitration board in municipal court yesterday afternoon in the case of Attorney G. Jay Clark, of this city, against Attorney W. A. O'Grady of Wellsville. Clark sued O'Grady for a $1,385 settlement on litigations which are alleged to have been handled while they were partners about six years. The arbitrators were Attorneys Frank E. Groshans, R. G. Thompson and W. F. Lones.

Accident Occurs at Plant in Woodward, Alabama.

$100,000 DAMAGE

Victims are Covered With Red Hot Molten Metal.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 20.—Ten men were killed, five white and five Negroes, and fourteen were injured, ten white and four Negroes, when a stack at Furnace No. 2 of the Woodward Iron company exploded at Woodward, 10 miles west of here, today. A number of the injured were critically burned and may die.

Approximately 250 men were in the plant when the blast occurred. All escaped except those in the immediate vicinity of the stack. They were covered with red hot molten metal. Those nearest the stack were instantly killed. Firemen are endangered.

Five of the dead are white and five Negroes.

The white dead are: Howard Mussey, superintendent of the furnace; Bill Rutherford, Horace Lolley, A. B. Martin and Smith Ball.

Ten of the injured are white and four are Negroes. They were removed to the Fairfield hospital by ambulances hurriedly summoned from Birmingham, Bessemer and Ensley.

A second explosion occurred in the pumping station while firemen were wetting down the ruins. It was less forceful than the first, although it scattered debris, endangering 50 firemen working nearby. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

The cause of the blast has not been determined, according to officials of the iron company.

One Victim Former Ohioan.

ELYRIA, March 20.—Howard Mussey, superintendent of Furnace No. 2 of the Woodward Iron company, 10 miles west of Birmingham, Alabama, and one of the seven men killed in an explosion at the plant there today is a former Elyria boy.

A message was received here this noon addressed to Eugene K. Mussey, the victim's father, informing him of the tragedy. Mr. Mussey is at St. Petersburg, Fla., having moved from here recently.

Auto Club Officer Will Attend Safety Parley in Capital

E. M. Diehl, secretary of the Columbus County Motor club, will leave tomorrow for Washington, where he will attend a conference on street and highway safety, called by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, and a "motor congress," sponsored by the American Automobile association.

The conference will open Monday and end Wednesday. Accident prevention work and uniform state motor vehicle laws will be considered.

The "motor congress," to which the secretaries of 775 motor clubs, affiliated with the A. A. A., have been invited, will open a three-day session on Thursday in the Willard hotel.

In custody. Confronted by the woman, Whittemore denied he knew her and said he hadn't seen his wife, "The Tiger Kid," for more than 11 months. The police are convinced, however, that the woman is the "Tiger Kid," and through evidence secured from her they expect to make additional arrests today.

Meanwhile "The Tiger Kid," Whittemore and the other five under arrest are being kept under a heavy special guard at police headquarters.

Careful search of the trunks of "The Tiger Kid" have disclosed evidence that the gang now under arrest

C. O. C. To Honor Memory Of Pioneer Pottery Owner

Tablet for Late James Bennett Will be Placed in One of City's Public Buildings.

A bronze tablet in memory of James Bennett, who established the first pottery in East Liverpool, will be placed in one of the city's public buildings, by the Chamber of Commerce, as the result of a decision reached at a meeting of the board of directors last night.

Bennett operated a one-kiln plant along the river bank here in 1840, using clays which were obtained from the hillside. He was a packer, having learned his trade in England. He came to America in 1838 and first located in Cincinnati. There he learned of the rich clay deposits "west of Pittsburgh" and came here by boat in 1839. The first kiln was fired early in 1840 and consisted chiefly of mugs, which were marketed at down river.

Three Spinsters, Insane, Live Four Years With Corpse

LONDON, Mar. 20.—A barred house in which three insane spinster sisters, named Nixon, had lived for four years with the corpse of their dead mother, was broken into by police today.

The police found the dead woman, wrapped in rags and broken paper, propped up in a chair before a table upon which was spread an elaborate meal. One of the sisters said the meal was for "mother and us."

The three women, whose ages ranged from 39 to 50, screamed and savagely resisted efforts to remove the body for burial.

BILLY SUNDAY WILL BROADCAST

Billy Sunday, noted evangelist, and Homer Rodeheaver, evangelistic singer, who conducted meetings in East Liverpool during the fall of 1912, will be "on the air" from the KFSV broadcasting station, Cape Girardeau, Missouri, on Monday evening.

The program, which is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock, Eastern time, is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Lions' Clubs of the city where the Sunday party is holding a series of meetings.

Bob Matthews, pianist for the evangelist, and Mrs. Asher, soloist, will also take part in the program. The wave length of the KFSV station is 224 meters.

OUSTED POLICE BUREAU HEAD IN WELLSVILLE ASKS HEARING

Mayor of Neighboring City Serves Formal Notice.

CLIMAX OF FIGHT

Fultz's Counsel Urges Public to Withhold Judgment.

Chief of Police John H. Fultz, of Wellsville, today was suspended from duty by Mayor W. L. Fogo.

The action came as a climax to several weeks of open hostilities between the police chief and the executive of the sister city, following the latter's request that Fultz resign his post.

Fultz, who at noon was awaiting charges, said he will fight the case before the civil service commission of Wellsville, and, if necessary, in the courts.

Fultz Retains Attorney.

The deposed police department head has retained Attorney Ben L. Bennett of East Liverpool to represent him.

Representatives of the civil service commission today said that they had received no official notice of the mayor's action.

Mayor Fogo this afternoon could not be reached by telephone.

Attorney Issues Statement.

Attorney Bennett, in behalf of Fultz, issued the following statement:

"I want the public to withhold judgment in this matter, to wait until they have heard our side of the case, and not to form an opinion on the fact that he has been suspended.

"I'm not familiar with composition of the civil service commission before whom the case will be tried, but I feel confident that with an impartial trial Mr. Fultz will be fully vindicated."

The deposed police chief has served for approximately six years under Mayors G. D. Ingram, A. P. Dennis, the late J. S. Barnes and Frank Blackburn.

It could not be learned whether Mayor Fogo had named an acting police head. Members of the police department knew nothing of any such appointment.

THE BLESSINGS OF EASTER

Easter Blessings come to all yet all are not fully thankful to Him who made Easter for us.

The message of Easter, the music of Easter, the joys of Easter, were made possible through the Christ of Galilee.

Have you any right to share in the business this season makes to feel the uplift of its music and the joy of its life unless you carefully consider its sources.

'Tis Midnight and on Olive's brow,
The star is dimmed that lately shown;
'Tis midnight in the Garden now,
The Suffering Savior Prays Alone.

FARMERS TO BE CLUB'S GUESTS

Kiwanis Prepares Special Program for Tuesday Meet.

Wellsville Kiwanis club members will be hosts to farmers of the Yellow Creek-Madison township districts at a dinner and entertainment on Tuesday night in the First Methodist Episcopal church here.

Invitations have been sent out by club officials to approximately 60 farmers.

As the chief event on the program, a talk will be given by A. P. Sandels, of Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Crushed Stone association. Sandels was formerly secretary of agriculture of the state.

TELLS OF MISSION WORK IN INDIA

Mrs. Sam Higginbottom, missionary from India, will address members of the Second Presbyterian church at services tomorrow evening, beginning at 7 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Higginbottom went to India in 1904. Up to that time India had periodical famines, according to Mrs. Higginbottom, causing death to hundreds of thousands even though the soil was fertile. Through the efforts and instructions of the missionaries these famines were successfully combated. Mr. and Mrs. Higginbottom taught the natives modern methods of farming and irrigation. They have received special recognition from both the English and Indian governments for their work.

India today, it is said, is one of the most successful mission fields in the Presbyterian church.

END REVIVALS AT U. P. CHURCH

Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, will preach at evangelistic services on Sunday night, the last of the two weeks' series.

From the general theme, "Decisive Hours in the Life of Christ," he will speak on the subject, "The Three Unanswered Questions."

The session will meet following this service to receive new members into the church.

Special music and song services, led by Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, have been arranged.

Services preparatory to communion will be held on Wednesday evening. Rev. Ustick will deliver a short sermon and the session will meet at the close to receive new members. Communion will be observed on Palm Sunday at 11 o'clock, with baptism and reception of members.

P-T. CARNIVAL SCORES SUCCESS

The Parent-Teachers association indoor carnival held last night at parents and teachers of the Central school district, in the Ninth street building, left little to be desired in the way of success.

From early in the evening until late at night, the three floors of the school house were packed and crowded with parents, children and interested visitors.

Booths on every floor, distributing candy, baked goods, needlework and fancywork, aprons, parcel post packages, refreshments, and other things, catered to hundreds.

Entertainment features were held at regular intervals on the second and third floors.

Funds from the carnival will be expended on the purchase of good books to be used by school students as auxiliary reading.

SCHOOL TEACHER TO GIVE ADDRESS

Forrest Mobberly, of Wheeling, W. Va., high school instructor, will speak at special services on Saturday night and Sunday in the Church of Christ, Seventeenth and Commerce streets.

The subject for the Saturday night talk will be taken from Matt. 22:42; Sunday morning, "Forgiveness;" Sunday night, "Tokens of the Covenant." Church officials extend an invitation to public school teachers to attend.

STATE RECEIVES BIDS ON ROADS

Bids for road improvements, totaling $1,615,653.78, were received yesterday by the state highway department. Lewis and Copeland, of Lima, were low bidders on .531 mile of the Salina-Wellsville road, now unimproved. Their estimate was $18,605.42.

2,149 Newspapers Listed in Ireland And Great Britain

LONDON—Great Britain and Ireland has 2,149 newspapers at the present time, according to the "Newspaper Press Directory," just issued here.

London has the largest number of newspapers of any individual town in the country with 406, of which twenty-three are morning and five are evening newspapers. The English and Welsh provincial newspapers number 1,330, thirty-seven morning and seventy-nine evening, the rest being weeklies.

Scotland has 235 newspapers, including seven morning and nine evening, while Ireland has 162, including eight morning and six evening.

Co-operative marketing by farmers in grain districts of Canada is proving successful in bringing higher prices.

Writer Has Home With Front Yard for First Time In Years

O. O. McIntyre, Who Scratches Veneer Off New York, Gives Miami Beach, Fla., One-over.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Mar. 20. — O. O. McIntyre, who has been scratching the veneer off New York and displaying the town as it really is in striking word pictures, is living in a home with a front yard for the first time in years.

The typical New Yorker has abandoned his latest mode in hats for the barbed wire of this tropical climate; his brightly hued shirts have been sent to the moth balls with his red flannels, if any; white flannels have taken the place of pleated trousers and spats have given way to sport shoes.

He reminds one of the fresh air fiend who gambols in similar raiment in the dead of winter around the midtown section of Fifth avenue in little Old New York; Oddity McIntyre has mentioned him many times in his column. But McIntyre is the rule down here and not the exception.

McIntyre, who has made electric lights on Broadway famous, now goes to bed early at night and early each morning he may be found in the open patio of his home clad in pajamas and lightweight robe, pounding away on a portable typewriter, the only sound for many blocks, unless the chirping of birds is noise.

"This is a great place down here," says the man who has traded noise and bustle of New York for the solace of summer's vacation spot in winter. "The moon is glorious—even for a fellow who can take a moon or leave it alone."

Cohan Stage Hit, Song and Dance Man, Is Film at Ceramic

When George M. Cohan wrote and produced that great sentimental comedy, "The Song and Dance Man," his object was merely to present and portray sympathetically a distinctive theatrical type—the typical, small-time vaudeville trouper. However, Paul Schofield, who adapted this stage success to the screen, and Herbert Brenon, who directed it, have broadened the scope of the story considerably.

The film version, coming to the Ceramic theatre Monday and Tuesday, not only mirrors the trials and tribulations of the song and dance man, but faithfully reproduces the whole colorful life of the theatre, even to the actual back-stage operations during a performance.

A more competent and experienced personnel could hardly have been gathered together than that which Brenon has selected. Tom Moore is happily cast in the title role, which Cohan portrayed in the stage version. Bessie Love is the ideal choice for the ambitious little actress who achieves musical comedy stardom on Broadway, and Harrison Ford does the best work of his career in the part of the wealthy artist. Norman Trevor, "Bobby" Watson, William B. Mack and Josephine Drake are some of the popular stage favorites who round out the strong line-up.

200,000 miles and more

Observe the speedometer of any "used" Willys-Knight, should yours be the rare good fortune to find one available. Nine times out of ten, the mileage registered there is easily twice that of any other used car you may meet with.

The reason for this is the absolutely unique service afforded by the patented Knight sleeve-valve engine in which carbon troubles, valve grinding and all wearing and weakening factors common to the poppet-valve type of engine have been permanently done away with.

The engine of a Willys-Knight is overlasting. It never wears out. Unlike any other motor-mechanism in existence it does not deteriorate. It actually IMPROVES with use. At 100,000 miles and over, a Willys-Knight is a more powerful, more efficient, smoother and quieter car than the day it left the factory. Hence, high mileage totals on "used" Willys-Knights are inevitable. Cases without number are on record in which Willys-Knight engines that have been run over 300,000 miles are in better condition today than when they first were purchased.

Nation Mourns With President

The American people mourn today with the nation's chief as funeral services are held for his father, Colonel John C. Coolidge, who died Thursday night as the presidential train was racing from Washington to the family home in the Vermont hills.

In keeping with the wishes of the Plymouth Notch farmer and one-time country store owner, who loved the mountainous zone in which he spent his life, and where the country's leader was born, simplicity marked the services which preceded burial in the hillside cemetery.

With a minister of his own choice in charge, the impressive services were conducted in the same parlor where, under the light of an oil lamp his own son became president upon receipt of news of the death of Warren G. Harding on that fateful August night of 1923. And the town folk of Plymouth sat with the leader of the nation, all bowed in grief, as the services were held.

As Vice President Dawes, ranking officer of the government in the capital today in the absence of the president, said in a statement of condolence, "Colonel Coolidge died in the knowledge of the honorable success of his only son—a knowledge which is the greatest boon that could come to a father in this life."

The nation suffers a loss in the death of the president's father, for he was a strong Christian character and a man whose personality won the hearts of his countrymen.

Bumming Around The World

The "open road" is romantic, especially if it leads to remote regions. But it is losing its romance and also its respectability, for a lot of American youths. Frank Buck, wild animal trainer and trapper, returning from Asia and Oceania, reports that the ports of the Far East are filled with bums and beachcombers in various stages of disreputableness, and those tolerant realms are growing weary of them.

"In the years I have traveled Asia and the islands of the warm waters," he says, "never have I seen so many roaming and stranded Americans. Lately I have found them everywhere—on the coasts, inland in the cities, even on the borders of the jungles."

"The latest addition to their ranks is the college youth 'working his way around the world to complete his education.' Some of these may have been to college, but apparently 'working their way' is the most remote of their ideas. They are simply begging their way."

"They live mostly a miserable life. The sympathy of American residents of those countries is wearing thin. It is getting harder and harder for the penniless travelers to get money out of their fellow-countrymen. The American association at Singapore has about decided to stop giving them aid."

Better stay at home, young fellows; finish your education in America; see America first, when you can afford it; and don't tackle the world tour until you have the money to bring you around and home again.

The Doctor's Sacrifice

"Uplift" efforts in the realm of health are a fine thing for the public, but rather hard on the physician, in the opinion of Dr. L. L. Bigelow, who aired his views recently in the International Journal of Surgery.

Ever-growing demands on the service of physicians for charity work are unfair to the profession economically, he says. It takes seven to ten years and $10,000 of somebody's money to educate the doctor for his life work. Then his domain is continually encroached on by quacks and fakirs on one hand, and by "untrained professional uplifters" on the other. The latter insist on his giving his services for nothing to people who don't need such help, and who would be better off morally and spiritually without it.

Free service pauperizes them, says Dr. Bigelow, when they ought to be learning to pay for what they get from the medical profession, on a self-respecting basis, as they pay their lawyers or grocers or butchers or landlords.

There is a good deal to this complaint. Every sick person must have medical care; but why make him serve the poor so much at his own expense? Physicians in general are rather badly exploited. It is the exceptional M.D. who is adequately paid for the services he renders. And when he does earn a proper living, he probably has to do it by overcharging conscientious patients to make up for deadbeats who could afford to pay him and don't.

Enforcement in Chicago

Prohibition is functioning better. Here are some facts about Chicago's recent attitude toward liquor, made public by the federal department of justice, and all the more impressive because the Windy City has been thought of generally as very lax in dry enforcement.

In the last 18 months Chicago has sent 30 carloads of criminals to Leavenworth. In the same time it has closed 18 breweries, padlocked 1,500 buildings and convicted 2,000 "illegal purveyors of poison." Padlock orders are now being issued at the rate of 20 a week.

Almanacs and robins have nothing to do with it. When you see kids playing marbles, spring is here.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 20.—Some of Broadway's biggest cafes are now Chinese. Their gaudy serpentine efflorescence where there was once the glacial glitter of such food caravansaries as Churchill's, Rector's and the Palais Royal.

More than 20 chop suey palaces are sprinkled over the White Way from Columbus Circle to Herald Square. Some are owned by a rich syndicate and others moved up from Chinatown when what old timers called the Bow-erization of Broadway set in.

Save for waiters who are Orientals with American haircuts the old Broadway atmosphere remains. Buyers seeking diversion. Ladies of the evening with casual companions. Hired herring-bipped dancers from the Argentine. Ladies who wink and ladies who drink.

Each has its soft darkness and private stalls with a dance floor that stalls out harshly in the garish glare of spotlight. They are pleasant places of noise, confusion and jazz but are minus the natural elegance of the Lobsteria that has moved eastward to Park and Madison avenue.

The women lack the chic and the men the suave polish of the Broadway of other days, but all the Chinese places are packed nightly and the financial rewards under the new regime are said to be far in excess of what they once were.

A free for all spirit brings the inevitable decadence. Captain Churchill stood like a lancer of old in his doorway to salvage the select from among the swarming adventurers of the Broadway night. He knew how to turn undesirable away without offense.

George Rector has cast his fortunes with Florida and is running a cafe on Biscayne Bay. In the old days he stood at the silk roped entrance of old Rector's separating the chaff from the wheat. Old manners, old customs die. First come, first served is the new Broadway fashion and it pays bigger dividends.

Doggy Park Avenue now has its own court gazette. The Park Avenue Association is issuing a social bulletin monthly. It is non-purchaseable and is circulated exclusively to all residents between 34th and 96th streets on that thoroughfare. Above or below these deadlines one gathers fold do not count, socially speaking. Park Avenue is going to make a valiant stand against being swallowed up in trade in the manner of its exclusive sister Fifth.

It develops that not all the "We Boys" are dead. The Waldorf long ago drove them from Peacock Alley, but every now and then they bob up with some new sort of sucker bait. In the beginning they posed as "newspaper boys" and launched books on famous folks that were never printed. Big men have paid thousands of dollars for representation with the idea they were adding bonafide New York reporters and receiving a puff, besides. The "We Boys" also organized reporters' clubs giving prospective members the idea that membership would save them from embarrassing publicity in the event of a scandal of any sort. The "We Boys" are glib salesmen especially over the telephone. Their last venture was the Allied Newspaper Correspondents' club to which not a single reputable correspondent belonged. For $100 one might receive "all theatrical and other press courtesies." That laugh you may have heard was when the new members showed their cards to stony hearted boxoffice men.

Telephone salesmanship was once the supreme art of the oiled-tongued gentry who wheeled checks so deftly. Today few men of importance talk over the telephone to strangers. The salesmen must convince a secretary or so before he gets a direct connection with the big man. Copyrighted, 1926, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

American Forest Week.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20.—The second American Forest Week has been announced for the week of April 18-24. In designating this week President Coolidge in his proclamation recommends to the governors of the various states that they also designate the week as American Forest Week and observe Arbor Day within that week wherever practicable and not in conflict with law or accepted custom, and he urges public officials, public and business organizations, industrial leaders, landowners, editors, educators, clergymen, and all patriotic citizens to unite in the common task of forest conservation and renewal.

American Forest Week is an annual call to all citizens to take part in bringing about better forest conditions. It has met with ready response and Edgar P. Allen, managing director of the committee in charge, says that this year the movement has spread and there is a stronger feeling back of the idea.

There has been more private and public reforestation and the attitude of congress is more generous toward the plan of reforestation since it has seen the results of this work. A national forest policy has been established and this year one of the chief phases of the program will be the development of state conferences and state campaigns. State chairmen have been appointed representing the American Forest Week committee and the state programs will be under their direction.

Those who have studied lumber problems say that it is important that emphasis be placed on the state and local needs. While it is essential that everyone do his part in carrying out the national forest policy, there is also much that people can do in their own community. Twenty states have established state forests comprising about 5,400,000 acres. It is pointed out, however, that while this might indicate that the states have gone into timber growing on a big scale, this is not quite true.

According to the Forest Service, a number of these state forests are the result of gifts or of special purchases which do not indicate a general policy. Considerably more than half of the entire area of state forests is situated in New York and Pennsylvania. Another thing, the mere fact that a state forest has been established does not necessarily mean that timber crops are being grown and harvested. New York prohibits the cutting of timber in her state forests, so that they really become state parks.

Pennsylvania An Example.
At the present time Pennsylvania is the outstanding example of state timber growing. The purchase of forest lands was authorized in 1897 and since that time has steadily gone on. The great bulk of these state forests will be devoted primarily to wood production. There is now pending a state constitutional amendment, which if approved by the people, will provide for a bond issue of $25,000,000 with which to buy approximately 5,000,000 additional acres.

New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, and Ohio are other northeastern states which are consistently building up state forests for timber-growing. So far Texas is the only state in the South which has adopted this policy.

It is also pointed out that town forests are an excellent means of meeting local needs. The saving in freight charges alone is a consideration. There are some 250 cities and townships in the United States which at this time own and maintain municipal forests. Often these are partly used as playgrounds and recreation parks. The production and sale of timber in these areas is an excellent investment. It is said that it is quite usual in Europe for municipalities to own their own forests and often the proceeds from the sale of the wood is sufficient to meet all of the town expenses.

Another unusual feature of this year's American Forest Week is that the Canadian government has also set aside the week of April 18-24 as a period when stress shall be laid upon the problems of forest conservation and renewal. It has designated this period as "Save the Forest Week." It is hoped that it will be possible to link the programs of these two. Canada will no doubt have a program similar to that of the United States, although perhaps more extensive, since there is more money at the disposal of the Canadian committee.

Although this is only the second official American Forest Week, there has been set aside a week in each year for an educational campaign in preserving the forests, since 1920.

Idea Originated in the West.
The idea originated on the Pacific coast in 1920, and in 1922 and 1923 President Harding issued presidential proclamations which brought the federal government behind it. President Coolidge carried on with the idea. Until last year, however, this week was known as "Forest Protection Week," but the breadth of the forest problem led President Coolidge at that time to enlarge the scope of that undertaking and changed its name to American Forest Week.

American Forest Week is not for the advancement of the views of any particular group or organization. This is shown by the wide range of interests cooperating in this work. The Forest Service; the technical interests by the American Forestry association; the women of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; industry by the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, and the nature lovers by the Izaak Walton League and the Friends of the Forest. In addition to these are such organizations

as the American Federation of Labor, the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, the National Catholic Welfare Council, the Playground and Recreation Association of America, and the Boy Scouts.

As was done last year, thousands of pieces of literature will be distributed. Since last year there has been added a much wider range of subjects which are covered by this literature. A catalogue has been prepared and copies will be sent out broadcast. Through the Associated Advertising Clubs it has been arranged to have a speaker at the meeting of every advertising club in the country during that week. The same arrangements have been made with the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

There will be radio talks, and motion picture people are lending their aid by having special features during that week. The National Lumber Manufacturers' association will again be host at a dinner to be given in Chicago.

The gospel of conserving the timber lands of the United States is to be spread to every part of the nation, and through every available channel.

Eve's Two Lovers

EDGAR POE NORRIS

THEY WERE SIX.

John Ingate got out of the roadster last and turned to his companions with decision: "Well, I don't know whether—"

At that moment Reggie White swept down on Eve and Clay. "Here you are! I was hoping we would be able to have a game today, and so was Miss Johnstone." The newcomer, having shaken Clay's hand, was holding Eve's familiarly, when Clay turned awkwardly to John Ingate: "Mr. White, Mr. Ingate."

"How do you do, Mr. Ingate?" Reggie White had a way of shaking hands that assumed a lot of things and usually caused strangers to frown, and John Ingate was no exception. "Do you play tennis, to? You must join us. Interesting foursome," Reggie rattled on.

"Why—?" There is no way for the hesitant person to escape the Reggie White type, and John Ingate was caught up unwillingly. He looked appealingly at Eve, hoping she would understand.

She thought he wanted a confirmation of the invitation, and could do nothing, of course, but give it. "Yes, you must come along," She glanced with annoyance at Reggie White, because he had taken so much for granted.

She didn't want to play tennis with White and his companion, and she sensed that John Ingate felt that he was intruding. "Oh, why had she accepted his invitation? . . . Her eyes met Clay's cold glance. Perhaps, after they had started to play, she could plead headache."

"If you can hurry into your tennis things, Miss Johnstone and I can hold a court for the game."

John Ingate spoke up. "With me in there would be five. I think I'd better drop out. Perhaps, some other time—"

"No, no! You come, to . . . I would."

Ham Basch, of Indiana avenue, Chester.

Lawrence Heddleston, of Fourth street, was a Pittsburgh visitor yesterday.

Miss Frances Simmers, of East Fifth street, is a Pittsburgh visitor to day.

Miss Alberta Edgell and Mrs. J. Ashby, of Warwood, W. Va., are guests of Mrs. Catherine Bowdler, of Moore street.

Daniel McDonald and Ralph Hall have returned home after attending a Masonic dinner-dance in Alliance Wednesday evening. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foutts.

F. I. Simmers has returned to his home in East Fifth street, after a month's business visit in the east.

Mrs. Albert Watkins, of Ridgeway avenue, who underwent a serious operation in the City hospital this week, is recovering.

Mrs. George Firth, of McKinnon avenue, who has been confined to the City hospital for several weeks, will be removed to her home next week.

The condition of Mrs. Edwin McClure, of West Sixth street, who is seriously ill, is unimproved.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ebert, of Warren, have concluded a visit with Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Ebert, of Lincoln highway.

Jean Ensinger, of St. George street, is recovering from an attack of measles.

Mrs. Isaac Burlingame, who has been ill at her home in Daisy avenue, is improving.

E. S. Donahy is ill at his home in Pennsylvania avenue.

Eugene Godwin is ill at his home in Newell.

Mrs. Dorothy Wollam is recovering from an operation at the home of her sister, Mrs. Clinton Morley, River street.

have to leave after the first set any way—business engagement, so you play and I'll watch the first set."

Reggie White's manner was disagreeable to John Ingate, but he was not a man to vent his feelings in such circumstances, and acquiesced. The four walked to the porch together. Miss Johnstone stepped forward to meet them, nodding gravely to Mrs. Wales and with the suggestion of a smile to Clay. John Ingate's eyes opened wider at the sight of her. Who in the devil was this?

Reggie White supplied the introduction. "Miss Johnstone, this is Mr. Ingate, a friend of the Waleses."

"How do you do?" She offered her hand, with its silken touch, to the newcomer.

"I'll have to toddle along after a set anyway, you know," Reggie explained to her, "so Mr. Ingate will be the fourth . . . We'll hold a court for them until they get into their togs and come out."

Miss Johnstone was conscious of the intent gaze of John Ingate. She managed to smile at him slightly as she turned away toward the tennis courts with Reggie White.

John and Clay went down to the locker-room together, each feeling self-consciously uncomfortable. They said little to each other as they were dressing. John debated with himself the advisability of finding an eleventh hour excuse to escape from this game. But this Miss Johnstone—

Eve was not in sight when they reappeared on the veranda. "I'll wait for her, if you want to go on down to the court and get warmed up," Clay suggested. "You don't know how women can keep you waiting," he added, with a smile.

"All right," John welcomed this opportunity to get away from Clay, in whose presence he felt nervously uncomfortable. And Clay was glad to get rid of him, for there was something he wanted to say to Eve.

Eve was not as lucky as on the previous day in finding a costume for the courts. The club did not keep much clothing of this sort on hand, since there were naturally few calls for it, and what there was of it was severely plain and ill-fitting. Eve was conscious of the poor figure she made in the dress, and hesitated about facing the others, or even Clay, in it. She did not appear on the veranda, but called Clay to her. "I don't think I'll play," she said. "These clothes are awful."

"I'm willing to drop out to," was Clay's reply.

"I don't think both of us ought to. We can't leave John alone with them . . . Where is he?"

Clay indicated the courts with his racquet.

"I guess we'll have to go."

"Not if you don't want to," her husband responded.

"I don't want to, but we can't back out now without a better excuse." She took his arm and led him down over the green to the courts.

John Ingate was lobbing the ball to Miss Johnstone, with Reggie White on the side-lines, smoking. "A wife should never play tennis with her husband," he called out to the Waleses. "She gets the blame for all of the mistakes," Reggie laughed as if he were having a huge joke.

"But a man shouldn't be so ungallant as to defeat his wife," John Ingate exclaimed. He wanted very much to play with Miss Johnstone, and she, a glance she gave him showed, was quite willing.

"I'd rather play with Clay," Eve spoke up decisively.

Reggie White apparently forgot the business engagement, "that was to take him away after the first set, for he was still present, in the form of a master of ceremonies, loling in ease, when the second set ended, with the honors divided. John Ingate was in no mind to drop out now. Eve didn't see how she could go and leave Clay behind. So all five were there when the three sets were over, with John and Miss Johnstone the winners.

"I'd like for all of you to have lunch with me," John suggested, eagerly. He would much rather have been able to ask Miss Johnstone alone.

"I really must go now," said Reggie White. No one offered objections, and it was a foursome that gathered for late luncheon on the veranda of the club.

Eve could not help seeing how fascinating Miss Johnstone was to John Ingate. She tried to get interested in their conversation, to draw out Clay. In the end she lapsed into silence, with a fierce dislike of the violet-eyed woman rising in her. She was Clay's wife, yes, but still she couldn't stand the sight of John Ingate paying court to another woman.

BOILER BLAST WRECK, FIRES GAS STATION IN BROOKLYN

Early Reports of 50
Men Missing Prove
Incorrect.

12 ARE HURT

Flywheel is Hurtled
Through Two Upper
Floors and Roof.

NEW YORK, Mar. 20.—Explosion of a boiler wrecked and set fire to a two-story frame building housing a gas jumping station of the Brooklyn Union Gas company in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn early today. Early reports to police headquarters said 50 workmen were missing and were believed to have been killed. This report proved to be incorrect.

Twelve men who were in the building escaped with minor injuries. Three alarms were turned in and all the available fire apparatus in that section of Brooklyn was rushed to the scene. It was feared that two huge gas tanks adjoining the pumping station might explode as a result of the heat. Firemen prevented this by keeping streams of water playing steadily upon the tanks until the fire in the pumping station had been extinguished.

The explosion caused a panic in the neighborhood. Mothers fled from their homes, carrying their young children. Several women fainted. Police lines were hastily thrown around the scene and all residents of the immediate neighborhood were ordered out of their homes. Police feared an explosion of the big gas tanks.

The boiler explosion hurled a flywheel from the basement of the pumping station clear through the two upper stories and roof. It was found some distance away.

William Calvin, of Calcutta, who, police say is a St. Clair township justice of the peace, was arrested on St. Clair avenue by Patrolman Roth last evening, charged with intoxication. Calvin denied the charge when arraigned before Judge Hanley this morning, but said he had been feigning drunkenness. He was released on his own recognizance for a hearing this afternoon when the patrolman will appear against him.

James McKinney, Chester street car worker, was fined $1 and costs for driving through a red block in the traffic signal at the corner of Fifth and Market streets yesterday afternoon.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 20.—After an irregular opening, in which the motor stocks and some of the industrials suffered further declines, the market today rallied under the lead of the oil stocks. As in the previous rally, heavy buying centered around Standard Oil of New Jersey, which sold up to 4 1/2 for a gain of 2 points, while numerous independent oils advanced from 1 to 2 points in active trading in the first hour.

Very little encouragement was offered the bullish interests in the weekly reports of the business agencies. Wholesale business appears to be in better condition than retail.

The first period saw a number of spurts in oil stock prices. Simms Skelly, Sinclair, Pan-American, Marland and Pure Oil gained more than a point in the first half hour.

Male Chorus of 60 In 'Student Prince,' Coming to Ceramic

Twenty Lovely Ladies Also in Cast of Operetta Which Plays Two-day Engagement Here.

No other operetta approaches "The Student Prince" which comes to the Ceramic theatre for two days beginning Wednesday, March 24, in size of male chorus. It is now the vogue to use mixed choruses, but the Messrs. Shubert, who present "The Student Prince," have set the lead in size and quality with their 60 student voices, which at each performance thrill the audiences and bring encore after encore for each exquisite song number. It must not be understood that there are no female voices in "The Student Prince." There are 20 of the loveliest ladies the New York studios and musical conservatories could produce. These were chosen not only for voice but for beauty and grace. There are singers and there are good looking women of the stage. The difficulty lies in finding them in combination, but this the Messrs. Shubert have accomplished after weeks of casting.

"The Student Prince" was three years in preparation before it was presented to the public in New York. The original company is now in its second season at Ambassador theatre, New York city, where in size of attendance and length of run it is expected to exceed any previous record for a musical attraction. The company which will be seen in this city is in every respect the equal of the New York show. The singing cast numbers one hundred. The scenic investiture is identical with the New York production down to the last piece of property.

Dorothy Donnelly wrote the book and lyrics of "The Student Prince" and Sigmund Romberg the music. These authors are also responsible for the tremendously successful "Blossom Time," but in "The Student Prince" they exceeded all their previous successes. The entire production is under the personal direction of Mr. J. J. Shubert.

Why Endure a Bad Back?

Get Rid of It By Keeping Your Kidneys Active

Life seems pretty dreary when the kidneys slow down, and backache, dizziness and bladder irregularities begin. Neglect at this stage is dangerous, because kidney inactivity may lead to dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease. Don't take the risk! Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are recommended the world over. Ask your neighbor!

Here is E. Liverpool Proof:

Mrs. John Brown, 151 1/2 Thompson Ave., says: "There was a dull, steady pain in the small of my back. At times I had to pull myself up out of the chair. My hands and feet swelled, too. My kidneys were weak and bothered me very much. Doan's Pills put my kidneys in normal condition, and all signs of the trouble left."

Zanesville In Semi-Finals Of Title Tourney At Columbus

Grade School Court Title At Stake Today

McKinley, Sixth Street A and Central A Victors in Yesterday's Contests, Advance to Semi-final Round; Finals Tonight.

McKinley 13, Washington 12. Sixth Street A 21, Central B 12. Central A 34, Garfield 14. McKinley, Sixth Street A and Central A were victors in yesterday afternoon's grade school tournament games at the high school gymnasium, triumphing, respectively, over Washington, Central B and Garfield.

The victors, as a result, will go into the semi-finals starting this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Two teams will emerge for the final championship battle tonight at 8:30, following the girls' division final.

As the score indicates McKinley and Washington raced neck and neck to the wire. McKinley won the game from the foul line, chalking up to loss than seven points on free throws.

Washington, on the other hand, failed to register at all in this manner although they outscored their foes from the field, finding the hoops six times to McKinley's three. Ashbaugh, Heddeston and Pennybaker were the McKinley mainstays while Green, McCoy and Reese performed well for Washington.

Sixth Street A's stonewall defense was too strong for the lighter Central B boys. The Central scored but twice from scrimmage. Sixth Street led at the half, 10 to 6, and continued to increase their margin in the concluding periods.

McConnell, Blackburn and Buxton were the big guns for the winners, while Pierson, Mullin and McNutt starred for Central.

Garfield was no match for Central A in the third clash of the afternoon's card. Central went into the lead, 10 to 6, at the quarter and boosted their total to 22 in the second quarter, while Garfield was held scoreless. Although Garfield outscored Central in the third period, their efforts fell far short of tying the count and the final canto saw the Fourth street lads hitting the basket again.

Carmen and Dearth were Central's big scorers. Dotta, Harris and Caton looked best for Garfield.

RISKO DAZES FIGHT COLONY

Comes Close to Scoring Knockout Over Berlenbach.

By George Barry. NEW YORK, March 20.—New York's fight colony still was in a daze this morning, following the stunning defeat of Paul Berlenbach, light heavyweight champion, by Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, in ten sizzling rounds last night at Madison Square Garden. Quoted as low as 1 to 2 in the betting, Risko, famous as a "catcher," took the play away from Berlenbach from the start, won eight of the ten rounds, scored two knockdowns and had the champion on the verge of a knockout on many occasions.

In other words, the catcher became a pitcher overnight and he seemed to have plenty on his fast one. Berlenbach's title was not at stake but his reputation was. He lost caste as a possible challenger for the heavyweight title and his plans to meet either Tunney or Willis this summer received a setback, from which they are not likely to recover at an early date. Tunney and Jack Delaney beat Risko in ten rounds but it must be admitted that they did not lambast the Risko who was on exhibition last night.

The outcome of the bout afforded the second of two great surprises to which New York fans have been treated this season, the other being Tiger Flowers' defeat of Harry Greb.

The fight was a thriller from the first bell. Risko had warned Berlenbach that he was in for a merry evening and he made good his promise in the first round by dropping Paul for a count of four with a left hook. He almost had the champion out but his follow-up was wild.

The crowd pulsated to the thrill of the moment but there was more to come as Berlenbach fell to his knees from a terrific right to the jaw as the bell ended the second round and reeled about, perilously near a knockout, in each of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth rounds.

Paul rallied to earn an even break in the seventh but was well beaten in the eighth and ninth. After being driven back on his heels with a right in the tenth Berlenbach suddenly flashed his famous left, landing heavily to the body and he continued the bombardment to the bell, earning his only round of the fight.

Rookies Face Senators. Sarasota, Fla., March 20.—Two recruit pitchers, Davies and Clarkson, will be started against the Senators today in the first of an 11-game series to be played between the Giants and the American league champions.

The Powers will play the Lisbon Roamers next Tuesday night on the M. E. floor here.
